DEATH SENTENCE SPEEDY VERDICT

Wyllie Insolently Thanks The Court.

(Special from United Press.) London, July 23.-Madar Lal Dhingra was to-day sentenced to death for the assassination of Sir William Curzon Wyllie, the ex-Indian official whom he shot to death at a meeting some weeks ago. Dhingra received the sentence without any show of emotion. Justice Alverstone instructed the jury to disregard, the only plea made by Dhingra that his crime was of a political nature. A verdict was reached after a five minute deliberation on the evidence which was merely the the evidence which was merely the story of eye witnesses to the shooting. After the death sentence had been pronounced, the Indian bowed to the court and insolently thanked the

"I thank you, My Lord," he said. "I am proud to have the honor you have am proud to have the honor you have thus bestowed upon me."

Sir William Curzon Wyllie was a most distinguished officer of the Indian Office who had been connected with the Civil and Military service in India for forty years. He was shot to death by Dhingra at a meeting at the Im-perial Institute which had been called to discuss plans for healing the breach between England and her discontented Indian subjects. Many native Indians were present and Dhingra mixed with the throng until the meeting was over. As Wyllie was leaving the hall the

SPAIN ON VERGE OF CIVIL STRIFE

Assassin of Sir William Curzon King Alfonso Using Strategy to Put Down Revolution in the Incipiency.

PROUD OF THE HONOR IS BITTERLY DENOUNCED

(Special from United Press.) Madrid, July 23 .- Spain is to-day or the verge of a civil strife and King Alfonso is posting troops known to be loval at all strategic points, to put down the revolution in its incipiency. Although the government is rigidly suppressing all the details of the Mo roccan war, it has become generally known that Moors have won a decided advantage over the Spanish troops there and several hundred of Alfonso's troops have fallen in the various battles around Mellila and that several of the Spanish suns have been cap-tured in hand to hand fights.

The summoning of the reserves to the relief of Meillla has wrought the people up to the fever pitch and there is strong sentiment against the gov-ernment for participating in the Mo-roccan war. The outbreaks have passed the rioting stage and have as-sumed the character of a countrysumed the character of a country-wide revolution.

once the beloved of King Alfonso. the nation, is being bitterly denounced in open speeches all over the country. Numerous arrests of agitators have been made and the jails are filled with political prisoners who are openly agitating against the government for sending soldiers to Morocco.

The gravity of the situation is bethe throng until the meeting was over. As Wyllie was leaving the hall the Indian student stepped before him and fired six shots from a revolver three of which lodged in the Indian official's head. A stray shot killed Dr. Caivas Lalcara and another wounded Sir Leslie Probyn. Wyllie died instantly.

O'ROURKE TALKS ABOUT HIS TEAM

Willing to Spend More Money Than Any Other Conn. League Manager to Strengthen Outfit.

BETTER RESULTS PREDICTED

"Bridgeport will have a winning bal if money can produce a winner, sald Manager O'Rourke this morning when asked about the prospects of his team in the league. "I've been trying to give as much money if not more than any other club to get the players. With the addition of Pitcher Whitmeyer, who arrived yesterday and Second Baseman Sweeney, who is ex-pected to-day, I think the team will be put on a good footing, ready to give the best of them a good run. Of course I am not claiming the pennant, but we'll be a good distance from last place when the final games shall have been played.

"It is common talk among the players of the league, that they cannot see why Bridgeport occupies last place, when they have such good men. Some have said that we lacked team work; well that may be true, as we have lost a number of games through bone head-edness, where a little team work would edness, where a little team work would have won the day. It was only last Monday, before the New Haven game I called the players together, and gave them only four signals which was all they had to memorize. That the boys did well was shown in many places, team play was worked and we won the contest. We tried the same thing in Hartford, and if luck ever broke for a club, fortune certainly smiled on the Senators. Why, all they had to do the Senators. Why, all they had to do was to swing their bat at the ball, and a hit was rung up. Even Freddie Gibbs could not withstand the on-slaught. Then come along to the Hol-yoke game. Bad luck followed us in

"Punyan got two beauty hits which should have gone for homers, only they struck the netting on the left field fence. It was the first time that I ever saw the netting hit by a batted ball. All Bunyan could get on the hits were two baggers. We lost that game because a little grounder hit the um-pire on the toe, he being too slow to get out of the way. A runner scored on the play, tying the score. Had it not been for that tie we would have won the contest. In yesterday's game it ought to have been a win for us. "Tommy Kane was the sorest man ever when he gave Justice, the weakest batter on the club, his base on balls, and then let Abrogast hit a safe one. And what's worse Savage, who could not hit the ball out of the infield, came into play with a two bagger. After Kane had passed Justice I motioned for him to come to the bench, but he did not see the signal. I was about to call again when he let Abrogast hit. to call again when he let Abrogast hit but seeing that Leverenz and Savage were to follow at the bat. I let him remain, and to my sorrow, the little third baseman, who on his former attempts could not hit the ball outside of the diamond, made a three bagger. This is only a few instances of the luck in which the team is playing.

"I get the Philadelphia Press every day and have been watching the work

"I get the Philadelphia Press every day and have been watching the work of Sweeney, the new second baseman according to the figures he is a valu-able man, and will add considerable strength to the club. Pitcher Reilly looks to be a good man, as he has the of all Gibbs, who knows him was says that he can deliver the goods. If he is half as good as Gibbs, he'll suit. I've let both Nolte and Hennig go, their work being unsatisfactory. In Pollard I think I will develop a good ball player. He has the build, can hit, but lacks sand when he is facing the batter. He fears that he cannot put them over the plate, which is a great failing for a pitcher. I may alternate him in right field with Stein auser. Speaking about Steinhauser, I think in him I have a good man. Northampton, with whom he started last season let him go with me, as they wanted to retain Mickey Finn in whose position he was tried out. Mickey did not produce the goods and has been not produce the goods and has been let go. This is Steiny's first year in baseball, and he'll make good.

"Hi Ladd is now the captain of the team, directing the men in all the plays. From now on they will play as one. The other clubs will have to have a care, as Bridgeport will produce re
